Now, we await earnings...

With all that was going on in Washington D. C. this past week, it ended up being a fairly volatile week for the market. Oil hit a new 2.5 year high of over $111 per barrel as unleaded hit right around $4.15 per gallon locally. Gold hit yet another all-time high of $1,470. Silver also hit a new all-time high. With corn stockpiles dwindling, it makes me want to re-visit the Old Testament story of Joseph of Egypt. By the way, it can be found in Genesis, chapters 49-57. Why is George Soros buying up grain elevators? Just a little tip from good ol' Bill Gunderson: Every time you see a big sale on a common item at the grocery store, buy a few extra and stock them away, it can't hurt as I believe that is inflation is here. Interest rates continue to drift upward as both China and Europe raised rates this past week. We continue to maintain a very "loose" monetary policy while the printing presses continue to crank out more and more dollars. At the same time, our dollar continues to sink to new lows against other currencies around the world. That is why I continue to believe that CASH is the worst place to be invested right now. Just look at a chart of UUP, the U S Dollar. That is a chart of your savings account, which continues to hit new lows. The way to hedge against a sinking dollar and rising commodity prices is to invest in them! Oil, Gold, Silver, Coal, Farming stocks all continue to hit new highs as the dollar hits new lows. Bonds also continue to sink to new lows. I hope you listened to me and got the heck out of bonds late last year. The bond market has now corrected by about 16% since then. A lot of stocks are running into some fairly heavy resistance right now and we may be overdue for another pullback. Then again, some good earnings reports in coming weeks could ignite the two year old Bull Market once again. It appears that the a government shutdown has been averted thi time around, but it is good to see some forces out there that are finally getting really serious about our out of control spending. Small cuts here and there are not good enough. It is time to apply the tourniquet and let the pain begin. We cannot go on like we have been going in the past. If we do, inflation and higher interest rates will cause even greater pain than the deep cuts will. "Living within our means" means just that! There is no middle ground. You either are living within them or you ar not. The next few months could get real interesting, I finally feel some hope that something will finally be done in Washington. Ditto Sacramento where Governor Brown has been backed into a corner by the budget hawks. I say, keep up the pressure until they have no choice, but to become responsible once again!

THE GUNDERSON BEST STOCKS NOW! STOCK GRADING SYSTEM

It begins with a database of about 2,700 stocks, 1000 ETFs, and about 2,000 Mutual Funds. They are first compared to one another on a MOMENTUM (1-12 mos.), SHORT -TERM (1-3 years), INTERMEDIATE TERM (3-5 years), and LONG-TERM (5-10 year) performance basis. Obviously some stocks have not been around long enough to have established even an intermediate term track record. This has to be taken into account in the overall analysis of the stock. Next, I look at the relative overall relative safety of the stock in the past. In my mind, relative safety is represented by overall volatility of the stock, especially during the "watershed" year of 2008 when many stock's weaknesses were exposed to the world during a very difficult time in the economy. Lastly, I put considerable weight on VALUATION. We learned from the TECH crash of 2000 that VALUE does matter. We learned again from the REAL ESTATE crash of 2006-???? that VALUE does matter! We are also beginning to be reminded again by the sudden sell-off in the BOND MARKET that once again, VALUE does matter. I then compare every stock, etf, and mutual fund against one another and come up with my own proprietary grade for each and every one of them. To me, it is always startling to find how POORLY well known, widely held stocks stand up against lesser known, not as popular OUTSTANDING stocks. There truly are "stocks of yesteryear," "stocks of today," and rarely are there perennial champions. Just like in the sports world, there are great programs, great management, and great coaches that that make the cut year after year, but there are also cycles. Almost every sport has it's annual all-star game where only the best of the best are invited to play. Why wouldn't you want the very best in YOUR portfolio?

WASHINGTON WATCH, THE ECONOMY, GLOBAL WATCH and THE EARNINGS FRONT.

It was all about the "budge battle" in Washington this past week. As of now, a government shutdown looms and neither side is willing to budge. It's a battle of "living within our means" vs. continuing on the course that we have been on for a number of years. If you don't think that the deficit affects you, pull up a chart of UUP, which is representative of the U. S. dollar. The dollar is getting crushed, while the deficit continues to rise. It now takes a lot more of those dollars to buy things like gasoline, bread, gold, silver, and just about every other commodity. It is not even a question of whether or not our country should live within its means, but where to cut? Unfortuneately, the deficit spending has gone on for so long, it will now take a axe to start trimming. I have heard the expression, "we need to take a scalpel to the budget as opposed to an axe," but I am sorry it is way too late for that approach, its time for the axe! I personally am sick of all of the "pet projects" that our representatives in Washington have been funding all of these years. As a result, interest rates are rising, inflation is heating up, and we are losing more and more credibility by the day.

Earnings Season begins with next week, with the usual kick-off by Alcoa. We have strung together several good earnings seasons in a row, and I don't see any reason why the current one won't follow suit.

Oh, there will be the disappointments and the surprises, but overall it should turn out pretty good.

The war in Libya continues, Khadafy is winning, and oil prices hit a record high on Friday.

BIG PICTURE-MARKET WATCH

The markets are hittina some verv stiff resistance riaht now and mav be poised for a pullback. Earninas season, which beains next week will have a lot to do with the future of the market.

BEAR, TECHNICAL WEAKNESS AND SHORT-SELLING WATCH!

It would not be wise to hold any short positions at the current time. PST (shorting interest rates) would be the only one that I would even consider at the current time.

401-k WATCH. Most people's BEST weapon for future retirement.

I want to continue to emphasize the point, that if you have a 401-k available to you through your employer, do the very best you can to put away as much as possible each and every week. The second step is choose wisely amongst the choices that are available to you. Most 401k plans have a very limited and dull set of fund choices, but one still has to do the best amongst the offerings. I like a BASIC 401k allocation as follows at the current

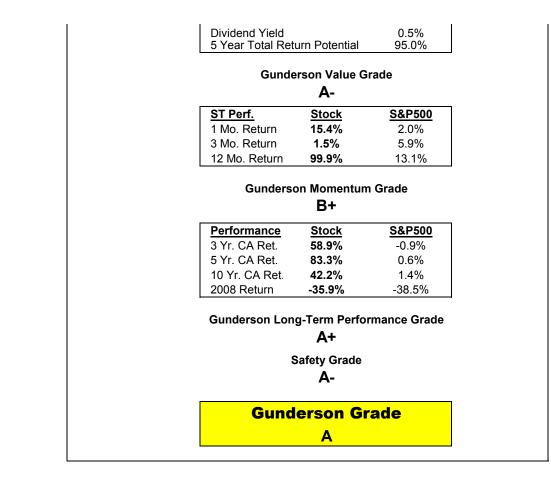

Best Bond Fund Choices that you have:	0.0%
Best Large Cap Choices that you have:	0.0%
Best Mid Cap Choices that you have:	35.0%
Best Small Cap Choices that you have	35.0%
Best Nat. Resource Choices that you have:	10.0%
Best Technology Choices that you have:	10.0%
Best International Choices that you have:	10.0%
Cash	0.0%
TOTAL	100.0%

I have a plan that charges $295 per year to manage your 401k. I will personally put ALL of your choices into my GRADING database and make your initial allocation. I will then monitor your 401k on a weekly basis and make changes as see fit. Contact me through the website or call me at (760)736-8258 for more info. A few percentage points over time can make a huge difference in your retirement funds.
