I mark up the month of May on my calendar every year. May is usually the start of the fishing season in San Diego. Migratory fish start to filter up from Mexico in search of my dinner plate. They look real good wrapped in warm tortillas filled with a little cabbage, white sauce, salsa fresca, and a squeeze of lime!

Cinco de Mayo is just around the corner. The sounds of Mariachis are in the air!

The first Saturday in May means Kentucky Derby!

Here are a couple of my Louisville Best Stocks Now App users at last year's derby.

The first quarter of 2013 has been real good. I think I will hang a sign on my office and come back in November...

Before I do that however, I better look at a chart of the market.

The S&P 500 is still above its 50 day and 200 day moving averages. The 20 day moving average is still above the 50 day after a bullish crossover back in late December.

It feels like the sentiment on the market changing however. The yellowtail are starting to show up at the local islands-I want to take the month of May off.

Fish Reports

Friday April 19th 2013

Coronado Islands

Great Yellowtail fishing yesterday. The Mission Belle was just 1 fish short of limits for all on board. They got 49 yellows for 10 guys.

The Yellows continue to be mixed in size, although most were 15lbbers.

The fish were scattered all over the Islands under spots of birds. A fly lined Sardine was the hot bait yesterday with a few more on Surface Iron and Yoyo Jigs.

The bite has been an afternoon affair but it got started earlier yesterday at around 10am. So far as of 10 am a few Yellows have been caught, but no big stops yet..... This could change at any moment. Watch for updates. Barracuda are due at any time now. They have a history of showing up right at the Day of the Docks time of April.

They are often found on the TJ Flats early in the year and on the Ribbon kelp for most of the season. Watch for the big bird schools.

At 11:00am the Long Range Boat American Angler is on a rare overnight trip to the Coronados and they say they have 12 Yellows on the deck

Picture is from the Mission Belle on Thursday

I don't know her, but I hope she has my Best Stocks Now App to help her with her Roth IRA.

It's hard to go on an extended fishing vacation with so many stocks still breaking out to new all-time highs:

Grainger had a real nice week after reporting a good quarter earlier in the week. I wrote about Grainger on Wednesday.

W.W. Grainger: Almost One Million Reasons to Buy

Does anything taste better than an icy cold glass bottle of Mexican pure cane sugar Coca-Cola after a 30 minute battle with a feisty yellowtail?

I wrote about Fomento Mexico last October. Right about the time I came back from my 6 month vacation (I wish).

Farmers don't get to go away in May. In fact, that is when the year round work gets even harder.

I wrote about Tractor Supply this past week.

Tractor Supply looks like a buy here

I have also been tipping you guys off that Tractor Supply is the place to pick up chicks on the weekend.

It is getting harder and harder to justify a 6 month vacation...

But, look at the defensive posture that the market is taking:

The top five ranked asset classes are all defensive in nature this week. Mid-cap growth has dropped from eighth place all the way down to sixteenth place. Small-Cap growth is falling in the standings faster than my San Diego Padres.

At least the Padres have started Wednesday night fight night. It is between the sixth and seventh inning, right before they shut down beer sales.

I am sure that the San Francisco Giants have sent Dodger's star pitcher, Zack Greinke a Get-Well-Soon Card after Carlos Quentin broke his multi-million dollar clavicle.

Hitting the Padres clean-up hitter is not a good idea. Being short the market is also still not a good idea. Owning gold has been even a worse idea! Emerging Markets also still make little sense.

Even though I have lightened my exposure considerably to the Building and Construction sector, other leading sector like Biotech and Healthcare continue to sizzle.

#9-16 This Week.

Does this look like a chart that this ready to go away in May?

Gilead Sciences (GILD) has been one of my largest (and favorite) holdings for quite some time now!

Regeneron (REGN) continues to hit new highs:

It is hard to go away with several leadership sectors still holding up so well. Even though the building and construction sector has disappeared from the leader board this week, I have a feeling it will be back before too long.

Commodities and technology continue to lag the market badly, however.

Emerging markets and commodities continue to badly lag our markets.

Even though, I can see the market turning more and more defensive, I am going to keep the green flag flying for now. But, it is more important than ever to be in the right sectors of the market!

Bill Gunderson's Model Portfolio for Investors seeking Aggressive/Moderate Growth.

This is my most aggressive portfolio. It is designed for investors with long-term time horizons, seeking maximum growth. This portfolio is made up mainly of small and mid-cap stocks with superior growth potential.

This portfolio is up 8.37% year-to-date.

THIS SECTION IS FOR CLIENTS AND SUBSCRIBERS ONLY

I have chosen Tractor Supply (TSCO) as my featured stock of the week. I like stocks that have performance, value, and a healthy stock chart--TSCO currently has all three.

Bill Gunderson's Model Portfolio for Conservative Growth Investors:

This model is made up of mostly mid-cap and large cap companies that I consider suitable for investors who have a conservative growth risk profile. Time horizon of at least 3-5 years would be appropriate.

This portfolio is up 5.35% year-to-date

401-K Section (How is your 401k) portfolio doing?

Everyone has different choices to them in their 401-ks. The choices basically fall into about broad categories however: Large Cap, Mid-Cap, Small-Cap, Govt. Bond, Corp. Bond, Inflation Protected Bond, International, Emerging Market, and maybes sectors like technology, natural resources, etc.

I have added a number of mutual funds to my Best Stocks Now database that are representative of the various categories of funds that are available in most 401k plans. I grade them on a daily basis.

If you have a wide selection of mutual funds in your plan, here is my current basic recommendation: This portfolio is up 7.8%

Bill Gunderson's Top 300 is a new feature in the newsletter. I can tell you from experience that it is very powerful. The Top 300 is a reflection of the market and the economy. These trends can remain in place for a long time. Sometimes bonds are at the top, sometimes cash is at the top, and there are even times when inverse funds rule the roost. Study this list carefully each week.

Bill Gunderson is a professional fee-based money manager. Gunderson Capital Management manages hundreds of accounts all across the country. Minimum account size is $50,000. Annual Mgt. fees are 2% on accounts under $250,000, 1.5%-1.75% on accounts between $250k and $1 million, and 1% on accounts over $1 million. Call us for a portfolio evaluation and more info. MORTGAGE RATES remain at all-time lows. "Craig Brock, our local mortgage expert and bond market commentator on Positively Wall Street is actually closing HARP-2 loans for people (while many banks are hopelessly backlogged). Are you under water on your property? These new rules are helping folks who may not have otherwise qualified for a new loan at these historic low rates!

Talk to Craig! (855) 900-EASY"
