DOVISH...

3/18/15 Fed Statement “When the Committee decides to begin to remove policy accommodation, it will take a balanced approach consistent with its longer-run goals of maximum employment and inflation of 2 percent. The Committee currently anticipates that, even after employment and inflation are near mandate-consistent levels, economic conditions may, for some time, warrant keeping the target federal funds rate below levels the Committee views as normal in the longer run.”

This was a portion of the statement made by the FED after their two-day meeting this past week. It was more “dovish” than the market was anticipating. Witness the fact that after the announcement the market responded with a gain of 227.11 points.

That is only half the story, however. Before the announcement, the market was down over 100 points! The market was obviously expecting something much worse from Ms. Yellen. The decision was based on a lowered inflation outlook and a weaker than it looks jobs market.

The FED did remove the word “patient” from their statement, but that does not mean that they will be “impatient, however.”

This was music to investor's ears.

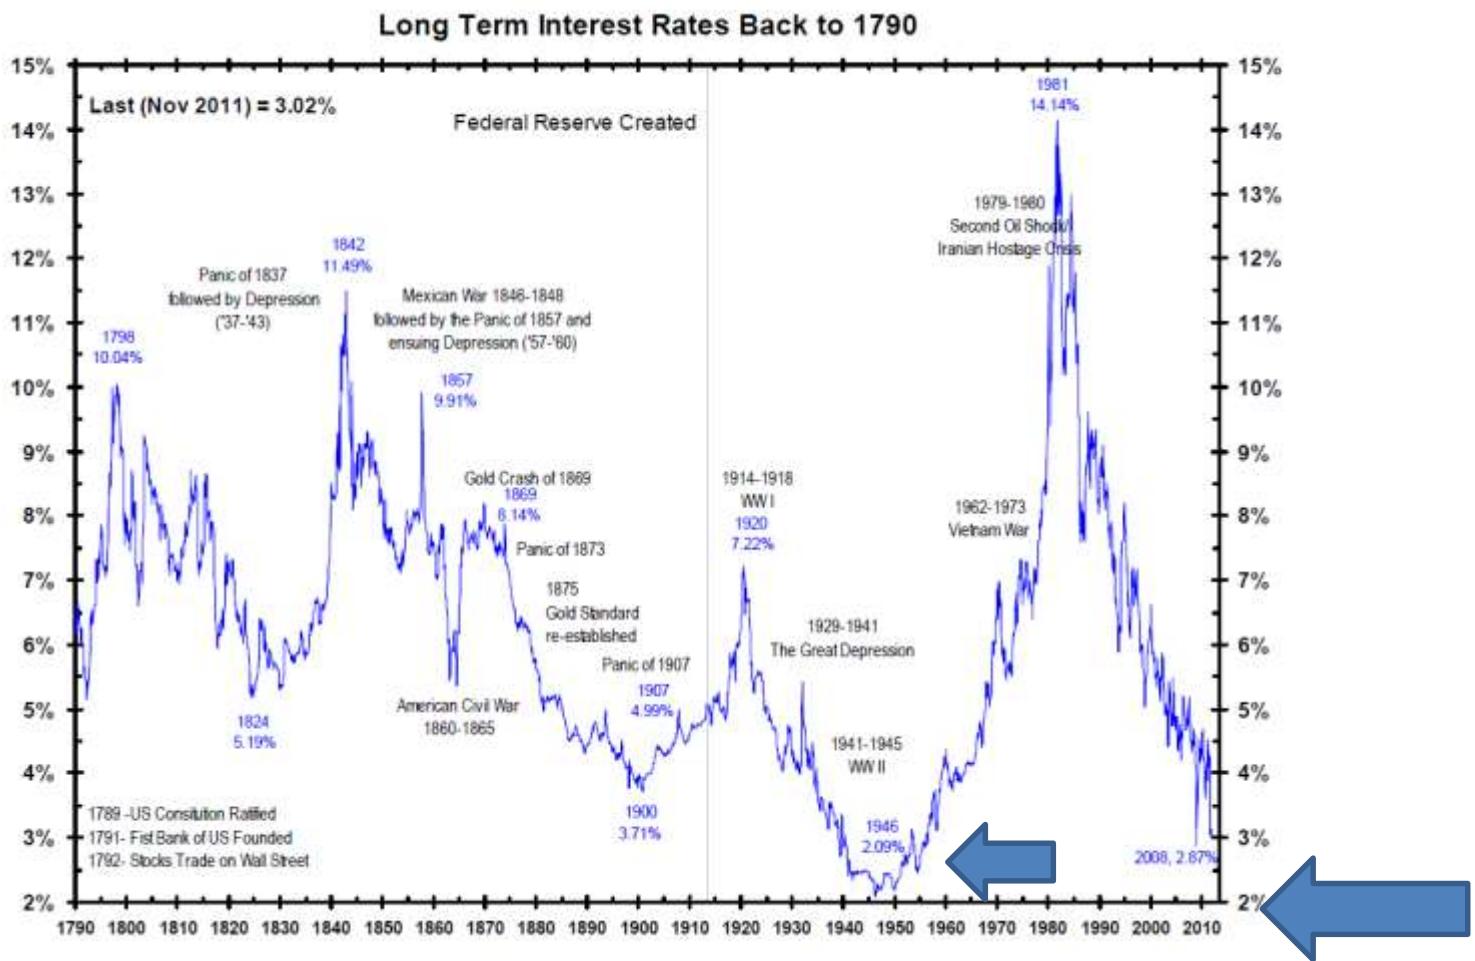

So after six years of this current bull market, here is where we stand.

Interest rates remain dirt cheap. How cheap are they? They have only been this low once before. You have to go back to 1956 to see anything near the 1.98% that we are at today! Interest rates have been coming down since the early eighties!

No wonder Bill Gross's former fund, the PIMCO TOTAL RETURN fund became the largest mutual fund in the world. He did not just have the wind at his back, he had a very stiff breeze!

What about bonds going forward, however? They would have to go off the chart in order for investors to reap any capital gains from here. Below is an excellent chart that I found on the long-term history of interest rates.

Low interest rates and a continued accommodative FED are bullish for the market.

The jobs picture remains favorable for now. Initial unemployment claims continue to come in at around 300k on a weekly basis. In addition to this, it is expected that the U.S. will create about 2.5 million jobs this year. This is also bullish for the market.

GDP remains positive. The U.S. economy is expected to grow somewhere between 2-3% in 2015.

Inflation is even lower than the FED expected. The huge unexpected drop in oil prices has been a major force in keeping inflation low. This is also bullish for the market.

S & P Earnings continue to support a higher market. I am still using S & P earnings of $127.50 for 2015. With a multiple of 17.5, I have a year-end target price of 2,230. Furthermore, the consensus estimate for 2016 is $135 per share. This creates a current target price of 2,365. These numbers are obviously subject to change, maybe even big change, however.

The PE ratio of the S&P 500 is currently 19.72. The forward PE ratio is 16.38. While not cheap, the market is also not expensive.

Market Valuation

Here is what the FED CHAIR had to say about current market valuations.

Ms. Yellen said "overall measures of equity valuations are on the high side but not outside of historical ranges." Ms. Yellen added "in some corporate debt markets, we do see evidence of unusually low spreads."

This is what I have been saying for quite some time. This is now a FAIRLY VALUED market, but not an expensive market. Bonds are extremely expensive!

Current Technical Analysis of the Market

The market is still in a bullish uptrend. Above is a one year chart. Later on, we will look at a longer term chart.

The Nasdaq continues to be the BEST U.S. Index Now. Recently, it has been going up even when the Dow and the S & P 500 have been going down. As I will show later on, biotech stocks are on fire once again, but they look a big overheated to me.

It looks like I sold my China shares too soon. They had a very good week and were up 7.8%.

While interest rates were plummeting once again in the U.S., they were soaring in Greece. The Greek stock market continues to collapse.

Not only was the Nasdaq the best performing index for the week, it is also the best performing U.S. index year to date. Worldwide, the best indexes are Russia and India. Brazil is the worst index.

One of the biggest stories of the year is still Oil. It has plunged another 16.1% this year after going down a whopping 43% last year!

Now for the current ranking of the 34 asset classes that I track on a daily basis. I am not an asset allocator. I believe in being invested in the best asset classes, not the worst ones. That is why I am not in bonds, emerging markets, or precious metals.

Being short the market (SH) has finally moved up a few notches, but it has been the wrong place to be for the last six years. Gold, Silver, and Emerging Market are also still terrible places to be invested. Gold did catch a bid after the dovish Fed meeting, however.

Gunderson Conservative Growth Model “C” Portfolio

This model is made up of mostly large-cap companies that I consider suitable for investors who have a conservative growth risk profile. Selections come from mostly the S&P 500 and the DJIA. Time horizon of at least 3-5 years would be appropriate. Investors need to be able to ride through swings up or down of at least 10-25%, however. Unforeseen world events are also always a risk!

This portfolio is up 86.32% since its Jan. 1, 2010 inception. It is now up 10.01% YTD. This is net of an annual mgt. fee of 2% and all $3.50 trades. I

Gunderson Model “D” Portfolio (Dividend & Growth)

This portfolio is for investors seeking Income along with the possibility of Growth. This is a good mix for retirees who are seeking a CD alternative-albeit with greater risk. This is my MOST CONSERVATIVE portfolio. Still, investors need to be able to handle 10-25% swing up or down. Again, unforeseen world events are always a risk. This portfolio currently has an average yield of 2.0%.

This portfolio continues to do well. It is now up 42.88% since its August 5, 2011 inception. This portfolio is now up 7.82% YTD. I

Gunderson Model “B” (Moderate Risk Portfolio)

This model pulls from DJIA, Nasdaq, S&P Mid-cap, and a S&P Small-Cap stocks. It is more conservative than the Aggressive Growth Portfolio, and it is more aggressive than the Conservative Growth portfolio. When fully invested it will have about thirty positions. This portfolio could be heavily weighted in cash at times. It could also own INVERSE ETF's

Time horizon of at least 3-5 years would be appropriate. Investors need to be able to ride through swings up or down of at least 10-25%, however. Unforeseen world events are also always a risk!

This portfolio is off to a very good start. It is now up 11.97% YTD. I

Gunderson Aggressive Growth Model “A” Portfolio

This is my most aggressive portfolio. It is designed for investors with long-term time horizons, seeking maximum growth. It is also my most VOLATILE portfolio. Investors need to be able to stomach as much as 10-30% swings from time to time in an aggressive style of investing. This portfolio goes anywhere in the world, wherever the action is. It can also be heavily weighted in certain sectors of the market. Unforeseen world events will always be a risk to markets.

This portfolio is up 70.47% since its Jan. 1, 2011 inception. It is up 7.61% YTD. I sold

Gunderson Model “E” Portfolio (ETF’s)

This portfolio is for investors seeking growth. Investors should have at least a five year time horizon and be able to handle swings of 10-25%. BIG LOSSES COULD OCCUR IF EXTREME EVENTS WERE TO HIT THE WORLD SUDDENLY.

This portfolio continues to do well so far this year. It is now up 45.95% since its Jan. 1, 2013 inception, and it is up 13.47% YTD. I sold

Gunderson's Model "F" Portfolio (Funds/401-k)

Everyone has different choices to them in their 401-ks. The choices basically fall into several broad categories however: Large Cap, Mid-Cap, Small-Cap, Govt. Bond, Corp. Bond, Inflation Protected Bond, International, Emerging Market, and maybe sectors like technology, natural resources, etc.

I have added a number of mutual funds to my Best Stocks Now database that are representative of the various categories of funds that are available in most 401k plans. I grade them on a daily basis.

If you have a wide selection of mutual funds in your plan, here is my current recommendation. This portfolio is also off to a very good start in 2015. It is up 13.08% YTD and up 47.67% since Jan. 1, 2013 (net of all fees and trading costs). No

Gunderson Trading Model Portfolio (Model “T”)

This is my MOST AGGRESSIVE account. For the most part, these stocks are too small or too thinly traded for my managed accounts. This is not a day-trading account. I am looking to bag some big winners, while keeping a short leash on my positions. I am using 7-8% trailing sell stops on most of these investments.

This portfolio is now up 12.37% since the beginning of the year.
